

Sponsorship

The inaugural All Island Bioeconomy Summit was held in October 2021. This year the summit is a one-day in-person event in the Tullamore Court Hotel on Wednesday 12th October. Our aim is to have at least 100 key people attending, including policymakers, regulators, researchers and representatives of businesses operating in the bioeconomy on the island of Ireland.

Below are the opportunities and benefits offered to gold, silver and bronze sponsors of the Bioeconomy Summit 2022 and the costs of sponsorship. If you would like to discuss these opportunities, please contact us using the details below.

Irish Bioeconomy Awards 2022

The inaugural Irish Bioeconomy Awards are celebrating the hard work, dedication and success of individuals and organisations in the bioeconomy sector on the island of Ireland.

Prizes will be awarded in four categories. The ceremony will be held at the Bioeconomy Summit on the 12th October in the Tullamore Court Hotel.

Biobased Product of the Year

A remarkable biobased product commercially used in the circular bioeconomy sector. The judges will consider the uniqueness and innovativeness of the biobased product.

Bio Achievement of the Year

The most remarkable achievement, innovation and contribution related to the circular bioeconomy on the island of Ireland. The judges will consider contributions made by organisations, groups or other entities which facilitate the circular bioeconomy. The award will show a unique achievement in an area that will, or has led to, increased benefit for the company, industry or society.

Top Bioeconomy Young Talent

The most remarkable young person within the bioeconomy sector. The judges will consider recognised impact of this individual for the bioeconomy.

Best Food Waste Valorisation Action

This award is where food waste is upcycled / valorised into a new value-added product. The judges will look how this product has avoided the food being wasted/discarded.
